

DR. TAYLOR'S ASSESSMENT OF MARSH RECOVERY IGNORES RELEVANT DATA AND POSSIBLE LONG TERM IMPACTS

- Reliance on observation of vegetation regrowth fails to give full picture of impacts
- Disregards direct evidence of soil contamination and marsh penetration
- Fails to consider persistence of contamination
- Underestimates cumulative effect of spill and other stressors

