

Dispersant Limitation Resulted in Increased Shoreline Oiling

“Data from the Environmental Unit, established at the UAC in Robert, La., to assist the FOSC with environmental issues, showed a strong correlation between decreased dispersant use and increased shoreline oiling during the period of reduced application.”

